Hilary Duff's Big Blazer: Our Experts Weigh In...

Hilary Duff brought back the '80s wearing shiny zipper leggings and a huge black blazer that may have been taken out of her boyfriend's closet. Though celebs like Lilo and Rihanna have been sportin' the legging trend for quite some time, the addition of the big blazer is a brand new.

Should you run out and buy the look, or go into your dad's closet to find it -- or bag the baggy thing altogether? Here's what our experts are saying:

Jaye Hersh SHOPINTUITION

Jaye Hersh, owner of Los Angeles celeb-boutique, Intuition says, "I love Hilary's relaxed and approachable look. Dressing in one color head-to-toe helps her body look long and sleek. She is right on trend with the elongated boyfriend jacket, shiny leggings and ankle boots."

Peter Ishkhans style.™ peter perfect

Peter Ishkhans is the Emmy-nominated host of the Style network's "Peter Perfect." Peter says, "The eighties were bad enough, pants that look like bad Spandex and an oversized jacket that looks like you cut it out a Hefty sack doesn't work, she has a great figure. She should wear something much more form-fitting. If I were her, I would run to Dolce and Gabbana!"

Aly Scott StyleChic™

Aly Scott is Founder of Stylechic.com, and told us, "Hilary Duff carried off this look perfectly. She has an oversized blazer on, yet it fits her well and doesn't overwhelm her. She also paired it with very fitted leggings to still show her svelte figure. She still looks very womanly and sexy, while carrying off this men's-inspired trend."

Yelena Jenkins The Stylish Soiree

Yelena Jenkins is Founder stylishsoiree.com and Editor-in-Chief of Shopaholica.com, who said, "The too-big shirt and jacket only adds weight to Duff's slim frame, doing her figure an injustice. To get the oversized look right, she should have gone up one clothing size on top -- not three."

Luxaholics.com says, "Before you run out and buy an oversized blazer, try your guy's on and see how it feels. You might be better off with a sleeker and more form-fitting blazer. It will modernize the look and not make the whole ensemble feel so '80s."
